SALOON FIGHT CASES ARE AGAIN POSTPONED

All Day Trial Results in Further Delay—Claim Self-Defense.

After listening to testimony all morning and afternoon in the cases of Peter and Walter Kaczinski and Henry Klackl, charged with assault and battery with intent to murder, Judge Feig continued the case until Saturday morning at 10 o'clock. One witness for the defense is still to be heard.

It is charged in the affidavit the men got into an altercation with Klackl, a bartender at the Frank Ernst saloon, 113 N. Main st., and in the ensuing free-for-all the bartender, the proprietor and a bystander were severely beaten up by beer bottles and glasses hurled by the three men.

The defense attempted to show the bartender was the one who started the fight by slapping the face of Peter, after the latter had accused him of short changing him. The men fought in self-defense, according to their testimony.

If the men are found guilty of assault with intent, they can be held to the grand jury, but if convicted on a simple assault charge, a fine can be levied against them now.

ARMY OFFICERS PREPARE FOR INTERVENTION

garrison, ordered all officers and troops in the district to report immediately and hold themselves in readiness for any developments.

Almost simultaneously with information of the Trevino note word was received from Juarez that the de facto government was recruiting all Mexicans above the age of 17. It was said that Gen. Alvaro Obregon, the minister of war in Carranza's government, was using measures which amounted to nothing short of conscription. There are said to be 50,000 Mexican troops in the state of Chihuahua alone, not counting those in the other states of northern Mexico.

For the time being the pursuit of Francisco Villa has been forgotten. The attention of every one on the border is now centered upon the developments of the next few days in Mexico City, where Gen. Carranza and Gen. Obregon are now staying. There is high tension in Juarez.

The commander of the Mexican garrison in that city has supplied most of the civilian population with arms and ammunition to be used in any "emergency."

Americans in Danger.

The lives of civilian Americans in Mexico are in graver danger than at any other time since the Mexican problem began to trouble the United States government.

Street car service between El Paso and Juarez, which was stopped last night on account of an anti-American demonstration in Mexico City, has been resumed.

American army officers are puzzled as to where the Carranza forces have been able to acquire such large amounts of arms and ammunition, as shipments from this country are now forbidden. But while the Mexicans are well equipped with arms, they lack everything else necessary to carry on war. In most of the cities throughout the republic, famine is raging and people are clamoring for food.

American patrols along the Rio Grande are being strengthened and heavy forces of troops are being massed at points of strategic importance.
